

vCISO Services

Stellar product.
Better people.

Why should I consider Trava vCISO services?

Virtual Chief Information Security Officers (vCISOs) have become a popular option for a large number of companies. While the benefits of having a CISO are well documented, the average salary of over $250,000 per year for a CISO (according to salary.com) is cost prohibitive for many companies.

Trava provides companies with the option of obtaining the services of highly qualified vCISOs for a fraction of the typical CISO salary.

WHAT ARE SOME OF THE WAYS TRAVA'S VCISOS CAN HELP MY COMPANY?

Trava's vCISOs offer valuable assistance to companies by providing strategic security planning, risk management, compliance support, as well as security governance and policy development. We help organizations strengthen their security posture, mitigate risks, ensure compliance, and effectively respond to security incidents, without the need for a full-time, in-house CISO.

HOW DO I ENGAGE A TRAVA VCISO?

Trava vCISOs primarily engage with our client companies in three ways:

Compliance Project Management

Trava's Compliance Project Management process involves planning, executing, and monitoring projects focused on ensuring an organization's adherence to regulatory requirements such as SOC2, ISO 27001, CCPA, GDPR, HIPAA, etc. It includes assessing compliance gaps, developing project plans, engaging stakeholders, implementing necessary changes, and establishing monitoring mechanisms. The aim is to minimize legal and operational risks, maintain regulatory compliance, and foster a culture of compliance within the organization.

Compliance Attestation

Trava, an innovative compliance management platform, assists organizations with compliance attestation. By leveraging advanced technology and streamlined processes, Trava simplifies the verification of regulatory adherence. It enables organizations to efficiently gather, analyze, and present the necessary evidence to independent auditors, facilitating a smoother and more transparent compliance attestation process.

Compliance Program Management

With Trava's comprehensive compliance program management services, we become a valuable member of your organization's team, ensuring your compliance success. Our expertise and support assist in the planning, implementation, and oversight of your compliance program. We provide guidance in risk assessments, policy development, training, monitoring, and reporting, leveraging our knowledge and resources to help your organization keep regulatory adherence and achieve compliance success.
